ABSTRACT

The report presents 879 special education descriptors proposed for use in the EUDISED thesaurus. Brief introductory remarks note the criteria for selection for new terms. Terms are presented both in an alphabetical array and a facet array. The document concludes with a preliminary distribution of descriptors according to terminogrammes. (CL)

INTRODUCTION

Working document no. 5 is the result of the revision work of document no. 4, presented in Strasbourg October last year. Since the "task force" was set up in December 1981, proposals for new descriptors, their relation to the different thesaurus structures and possible forms of presentation have been discussed in Oslo 17-20 January and 31 May, in San Sebastian 10-14 July and Strasbourg 7-8 and 19-20 October 1982. The work was completed during a meeting in Madrid 26-29 September 1983.

Due to the fact that financial resources for the work have been lacking, this version of the document has not been elaborated to such an extent as was intended one year ago. The number of descriptors have been reduced from 1700 to 879, certainly loosing some of the intended specificity, but at the same time arriving at a reasonable number of proposals for inclusion in the thesaurus.

The present document contains on the one hand a traditional EUDISED facet structure, modified in facet 18000, making a comparison between the existing thesaurus and the proposals possible. As a tool for the extension work this has been a functional solution. Both an alphabetical array and a facet array is presented here.

Taking the consequences of a new thesaurus structure, it was also necessary to see how it could be developed as an extension of the terminogrammes. For this purpose the candidate descriptors were sorted according to three criteria:

1. Descriptors which could be seen as proposals in an ordinary thesaurus revision procedure are given in a separate list.

2. Some of the descriptors seemed to cluster around certain terminogrammes, creating a need for a restructuring of the terminogramme. An example of this is given with terminogramme 08, our proposal called 08a.

3. Some groups of descriptors were impossible to fit into existing terminogrammes. We have given a few examples of new terminogrammes:
   (H&R) Health and rehabilitation
   (D&I) Disease and impairment
   (TA) Technical aids
   It is still necessary to elaborate some new terminogrammes, but it has been impossible to meet this need with the available resources.

These three subgroups of descriptors are not adequately developed by the "task force", and will need a follow-up. Only examples are given, and if descriptors should be grouped according to criteria 3, it is necessary to restructure some other terminogrammes and creating a few new ones. A reasonable conclusion to this could be to make a proposal of a revised terminogramme structure to include the special education descriptors. In the present situation of theasurus revision this is not the most obvious outcome. It should delay the new EUDISED Thesaurus for a few more years, waiting for linguistic equivalences.

Another solution could be to produce a thesaurus covering special education, compatible with EUDISED descriptors, but with another terminogramme structure. Such a product could be in the main languages in the first period, being developed for the whole range of languages over some years.

Concerning linguistic equivalences, this problem has not yet found its solution. As was intended, groups of experts should be set up for each language area to assist with the preparation of a fuller structured list of terms. Without this, the work already done should have a limited value.

Our proposal is therefore to find resources for the completion of our draft terminogramme structure, and at the same time make an effort to develop the subthesaurus with the necessary linguistic equivalences.
